VET TRAINING ON FARMS HITS SNAG IN COUNTY

State Says Instructor's Salary Is Too High, Won't Approve Him.

For want of an instructor, Richland county farmer-veterans are losing GI Bill benefits otherwise available through on-the-job farm training.

That's the status of the former servicemen who want to earn while they learn farming.

For months the county veterans agriculture committee, organized to guide the program in Richland county, has tried to get the project started. A basic requirement is that textbook training be provided in addition to the practical training the ex-soldiers receive on farms.

Finding an instructor qualified to teach the classes has taken months, and now that one "exceptionally well qualified" has been found the vocational agriculture division of the state department won't approve him because his proposed salary is too high, said County Schools Supt. Boyd Robinson, a member of the six-member agriculture committee.

"This man, himself a veteran, has a bachelor's and a master's degree and 13 years of teaching experience in public and private schools, three of them as a school superintendent. He agreed and we agreed on a salary of $3,200 a year, plus $700 traveling expenses, but the state thinks that is too much, Robinson said.

* * *

Needs Sponsor.

Actually, the committee doesn't have the hiring power, but until any local county board of education agrees to sponsor the project and act as hiring agent the committee is in charge, it was explained.

Robinson said he will call the prospective instructor to see if he will accept less money but doesn't know what his answer will be.

Approximately 30 veterans cannot qualify for GI benefits until an instructor is hired and classes are started. They are applicants under one part of the program which permits them to take on-the-job training as employes on other farmers' lands.

Thirty more veterans who have qualified for benefits by participating in another part of the program as owners or operators of their own farms are receiving benefits because no classes are required for them.

The "disenfranchised" group would receive benefits at the rate of $65 per month for single men and $90 per month for those who are married. In addition, they would receive anywhere from $40 to $70 per month directly from the farmers for whom they work as remuneration for their labor.

NAMED TO 33RD

Henry A. Senert Selected For High Masonic Honor.

Henry A. Senert, secretary of The Charles Ritter company, today was notified of his nomination to the thirty-third degree by the supreme council, of the Scottish Rite, northern jurisdiction. The degree will be conferred in September 1947.

Senert was notified of his nomination by Arliss F. Porter upon his return from a meeting of the council in Pittsburgh. Porter said Senert is only the seventh Mansfielder ever elected to the high Masonic honor.

Senert took his first Masonic work in Turtle Creek, Pa., in 1918, a year before coming to Mansfield with the Westinghouse company. He is past high priest of Mansfield chapter No. 28, past master of Mansfield council No. 94 and past commander of Mansfield commandery No. 21, as well as grand captain of the guard of the Grand Commandery, State of Ohio.

Senert for 10 years was supply officer of Ohio State Reformatory.

Cause of Train Wreck's Mystery

VICTORVILLE, Calif. —(INS)— Railway investigators studied twisted rails and the battered locomotive and cars of the Union Pacific's "Transcontinental" today in search of an explanation of a wreck in which six persons perished.

So far the cause of the spectacular pile-up yesterday on a curve two miles from Victorville remains a mystery.

McGregor Blasts OPA, Purdy Thinks It Can Be Made to Work; Truman Stands Firmly Behind Continuation of Price Control

Congressman J. Harry McGregor of the 17th district today called for an end to OPA and asserted that "conditions as they now exist assure me that I was right when I voted against continuation of OPA."

McGregor's statement was contained in telegrams to Paul Porter, director of OPA, and Clinton Anderson, secretary of agriculture.

Meanwhile, W. W. Purdy, Mansfield, McGregor's Democratic opponent in the November election, said "It is not necessary to repeal the price control law to effect a reasonable increase in prices the same as wages are increased."

Purdy said the public must sacrifice a little, if necessary, to help pay our debt to servicemen."

"I am opposed to regulations in peace time," McGregor said. "Opposition to the OPA in this district is seven to one."

In his telegram to Porter and Clinton Anderson, McGregor wrote:

"Conditions as they now exist in our nation assure me that we do not need price control in peacetime and that I was right when I voted against a continuation of OPA.

"The de-control of meat and other foods would be an incentive to producers as well as a direct and immediate relief for the consumers. Present livestock prices have not been adjusted commensurate with the cost of production on the farms. Production that is necessary to meet the demand cannot be made under your present rulings and directives.

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Risking party discord in the midst of the congressional election campaign, President Truman stood firm today for keeping meat under OPA ceilings—with no boost in prices.

Emphasizing he regards the situation as a shortage and not a "famine," Mr. Truman brushed aside demands of some Democratic leaders for a 60-day suspension of meat ceilings. That period would extend beyond the November elections.

In doing so, the president predicted there will be more and a better grade of meat available "in the near future." He said he saw no need for a special session of congress to deal with the situation.

Mr. Truman blamed the "extraordinarily large" slaughter of cattle and hogs during the July-August lapse of ceilings for the current lack of meat.

He also laid a share of the blame squarely at the door of congress, declaring in his news conference statement yesterday:

"If, as I had urged upon the congress, the price control legislation had been re-enacted in the early spring, many of these difficulties would have been avoided."

This direct slap at the lawmakers, apparently applying to many Democrats as well as Republicans, was not the only political overtone of Mr. Truman's declaration for sticking with ceilings.

Trembling Men Pick (Ugh) Lena

Mansfield's "Lena the Hyena" has been chosen!

With shaking fingers and blanched faces, three strong men—judges in the N-J "Lena the Hyena" contest—spent the most horrifying hours of their lives this morning but finally managed to come up with the winner.

Football Coach Paul Snyder, Artist John Bernat, and Police Chief Meade K. Bates, the judges, left the News-Journal offices this morning in a weakened condition but were reported to be slowly recovering at noon today.

A call to General hospital at 10 a. m., when the ordeal took place, revealed that the emergency room was ready and waiting.

* * *

CHOOSE FROM 1500 ENTRIES

The contest winner was chosen from nearly 1500 entries from all over the Mansfield area. The winning Lena will be published in the Sunday News-Journal, when the contest winner will be announced.

The climax came at 11:05 a. m. when the quivering judges, by now all border-line cases, boiled the huge number of entries down to a chosen six.

"I think that one is good—horrifyingly good, in fact," Snyder said.

The two other judges nodded their heads in agreement.

"I just can't take it any more anyway," Bates said.

"It was horrible," Bernat quavered, as he eyed an exit.

A final vote was taken, a deadly decision made and three beaten men staggered from the N-J office.

Lena the Hyena, Lena the Terrible, Lena the Shocker of Thousands, had been chosen.

Handling some of the runners-up gingerly, News-Journal employes carried them to the N-J front window, where they are now on display. Inside a few minutes, a brave group had lined up at the window to see the display.

Dozens of entries were still pouring into the N-J office this morning, but couldn't be considered because they had been mailed past the deadline.

Maguire called on the operators to sit down with the union and arrive at a solution of the strike which has paralyzed many New York industries, and sharply cut food deliveries.

Judge Turns Down Plea For Dormitory Injunction.

COLUMBUS —(UP)— Common Pleas Judge Myron B. Gessaman today refused to grant a temporary injunction against Ohio State university trustees to prevent them from converting Baker Hall into a dormitory for female students.

BUILDING BOOM—An unprecedented building boom is under way along Route 42 between Ashland and Mansfield. Top left are two of 17 houses being erected by the Freedom Heights Construction company. The house in the foreground has been purchased by Jack Schooley, Mansfield R. D. 4. The building at top right is being erected by George Scott, proprietor of "Scotty's" restaurant. It will contain a furniture store on the first floor and 10 apartments on the second. It is located next door to the restaurant. At bottom is the partially-erected recreational center being built by a corporation headed by Dr. B. E. Shreffler of Mansfield. The building will contain bowling alleys and other recreational facilities. It is scheduled to open Jan. 1. (News-Journal photos.)

Building Boom Closes Ashland-Mansfield Gap

By GEORGE SATTLER

Mansfielders soon may be shaking hands with Ashland neighbors over garden fences in their own back yards.

Fantastic? Maybe so—but no more than the building boom on U. S. Route 42 which is rapidly closing the gap between the two cities.

Houses, groceries, garages, a huge recreation center, a furniture store, and apartments are a few of the buildings now under construction.

* * *

Boom Just Starting.

"From what I hear, this is only the beginning of the building boom out here," H. W. Anderson of Mansfield said.

Anderson is heading the construction job on a huge recreation center, now being erected just west of the Ashland county line. The recreation center, which Anderson hopes will be completed by Jan. 1, will contain bowling alleys and other facilities.

"We also plan to have a huge dining room and kitchen on the second floor."

Anderson is secretary of a corporation which owns the property. There are 10 stockholders. Dr. B. E. Shreffler of Mansfield, is president.

Largest building now under construction on Route 42 is being built by Mr. and Mrs. George Scott, proprietors of "Scotty's," a cafe and tavern on Ashland road. The new building, situated just north of the restaurant, will cost more than $50,000.

"My present plans call for a furniture store on the first floor and 10 apartments on the second," Scott said.

* * *

Build Store, Garage.

Two miles north of the Mansfield corporation limit on Route 42 a garage and grocery building is being constructed by John Van Cura and Chester Davis, both of Mansfield. The building was started two weeks ago.

About a mile north of the Van Cura-Davis property are 17 houses, some of which are already occupied and others in various stages of construction.

The houses are being constructed by the Freedom Heights Construction company, with Anton Reiser of Mansfield, president. Many houses already have been built and others are being erected along the road between Ashland and Mansfield.

"If I had 10 houses a day to sell," Reiser said, "I would have them all sold by 10 a. m."

21-SEAT PLANES TO SERVICE CITY

CAB Approval Still Needed Before Flights Start.

Great Lakes Airlines, Inc., announced tentative plans today for use of 21-passenger planes to service Mansfield.

Inauguration of flights awaits final approval of the Civil Aeronautics board of a feeder line connecting with transcontinental airlines through Cleveland and Columbus.

CAB examiners this week approved an application of Great Lakes for such feeder line service. Final approval of the board itself is not expected for 90 days.

Great Lakes said its plans call for use of two types of aircraft—a new, four-motor Beechcraft and a new two-motor Boeing, both designed for feeder line service.

James R. Harrington, president of Great Lakes, also is president of Harrington Airways Inc. and manager of Mansfield airport.

Indians Say Uncle Fails to Keep Word

POLSON, Mont. —(AP)—Tomorrow is American Indian day, set aside to honor the aborigines of this nation, but the country's 500,000 tribesmen aren't in a celebrating mood. They're peeved at Uncle Sam.

In this northwestern Montana Flathead Indian reservation community on the southern shore of Cast Flathead lake, young, well-educated Stephen de Mers, a Salish tribesman who is secretary of the American Indians of Montana, tells you:

"I don't believe the Indians will do much celebrating tomorrow, they're not in the mood. They're fed up with the guff they've been getting for 300 years."

To point out the feelings of the Indians, the blond war veteran explains that the projected construction of Garrison dam, a North Dakota reclamation project, has brought heated protests because the lake would flood out hundreds of Assiniboines and Sioux.

"The government says those tribesmen will be compensated and given other land, but the Indians are leery of government promises. It has been making promises to us for years—better schools, hospitals, hundreds of other things—but those promises have not been lived up to. In this instance, the Fort Berthold, (N. Dak.) reservation people feel they will be taken for another ride.

POWER STRIKE IN FOURTH DAY

Pittsburgh's Electric Supply Near Danger Point.

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—The power supply in this industrial city sank nearer the danger point today as a strike of 3,200 employes of the Duquesne Light company entered its fourth day—with wage negotiations continuing but no new contract in sight.

Public tenseness relaxed somewhat as an early morning union order sent 2,800 streetcar motormen hurrying back to their jobs to man trolleys which had stood idle since 5 a. m. yesterday, crippling the city's transportation system and stranding thousands of workers.

The Pittsburgh Railways company announced it would continue to give the "limited" service it had been offering since the power strike started—50 per cent of normal "off-peak" operation, which meant that about 225 of the system's 1,200 cars would be running.

About 28,000 other workers remained idle as a result of power curtailments.

Electricity in Duquesne Light's lines overnight was reported at 31 per cent of normal, compared with 40 per cent yesterday and 45 per cent the day before.

A negotiating conference late yesterday failed to produce tangible results and representatives of the company and of the Independent Association of Employes of the Duquesne Light company broke off without arranging a new meeting.

Street lights remained on throughout the 817-square mile area served by Duquesne in Allegheny and Beaver counties. Citizens had current in their homes but were urged to use it sparingly to avert complete failure.

Way Opens For Thousands of Soldiers to Quit Army.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Thousands of enlisted men were eligible today for return to civilian life as a result of war department action to speed their discharge because of slashes in the army's budget.

The war department announced that soldiers with six more months to serve are eligible for discharge immediately provided their services are non-essential at their stations or they present written evidence of intentions to enter an accredited college or university.

A substantial proportion of an estimated 300,000 non-regular enlisted men are affected by the action. Shortly before this action, the war department relaxed discharge criteria for officers to permit the release of approximately 85,000.

KILLER TO APPEAL

LONDON—(INS)—Nevile Heath, the former South African air force flier sentenced to death after confessing the murders of two women, planned today to submit an appeal within the next 10 days. It was understood that he will plead insanity. If this appeal fails, his last possible recourse would be a medical inquiry by the home secretary.

SAN ANTONIO LOSSES HIGH IN DOWNPOUR

Three Military Police Lose Lives in Rescue Attempts During Night.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—(UP)—Sheriff Owen Kilday said today that reports reaching his office indicated at least 12 persons were dead as a result of a major flood which was sweeping south toward the Gulf of Mexico.

Six inches of rain fell on this historic city during a 12 hour period, but this morning the rains had ceased and the flood waters began to recede.

Bodies of six victims, among them three military policemen who had helped rescue crews during the night, were found in the vicinity of the three west side creeks which swirled out of their banks because of the heavy downpour.

Only one of the dead was identified immediately. She was Patricia Painter, 16. The other bodies, in addition to the military police, were those of a man about 20 and a girl, about 18.

* * *

River Still Rising.

While the waters were receding in the residential area of the town, the San Antonio river into which the creeks flow continued to rise south of the city and a heavy loss of property was feared in the lowlands.

Police and firemen used boats to evacuate persons from their flooded homes in the lower section of town. Schools and churches were being used to house the homeless.

Storekeepers flocked to their places of business nightlong to attempt to save their merchandise. This morning most of the stores in the downtown area reported about six inches of water had swamped their buildings.

* * *

Peak At Midnight.

The flood touched its peak shortly after midnight when the water was knee-deep in many sections of this Alamo city. Police said many homes had been washed away completely, especially in the south part of town.

Two hundred military police responded to emergency call from nearby Fort Sam Houston to aid local police and firemen in rescue work and direction of traffic.

PRAYS IN CELL

'Urge to Kill' Slayer Waits For Grand Jury Session.

BRYAN —(AP)— James Robert Engle fingered a rosary and prayed in a Williams county jail cell today while detectives hunted evidence to supplement his strange confession that he left the Navy with an "urge to kill" and satisfied that urge in the brutal slaying of Librarian Emily Abernathy.

The husky, red-haired youth of 21 was too distraught yesterday to add much to his original confession, which Prosecutor Charles G. Stahl received Wednesday night.

Stahl has announced he would seek a first degree murder indictment against Engle at a special grand jury session tomorrow.

Sets Grocery Firm Fines at $175,000

DANVILLE, Ill.—(UP)—Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley today imposed fines totaling $175,000 on the New York Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company and 24 officers and subsidiaries convicted of violating federal anti-trust laws.

Lindley vacated his finding of guilty against four of the 29 defendants. He changed the decision to innocent. Judge Lindley overruled attorneys' motion for a new trial but granted a stay of execution pending an appeal.

Old Woman In Shoe's Mere Piker

COLUMBUS—(INS)—A woman who claimed to be 65 years old has given birth to her 27th child in University hospital.

Mrs. Mary Jones, wife of a 60-year-old crane operator, said today that among her children, 21 of whom are living, are six sets of twins. The newest infant is a girl.

Ten of her sons served in the armed forces during the war. Mrs. Jones said her mother was 62 when she was born.

Fate of Nazi Bigshots Remains Dark Secret Well Guarded By War Tribunal

NUERNBERG —(UP)—The war crimes tribunal almost certainly has agreed upon the fate of the 22 Nazi leaders, it appeared today as officials threatened to prosecute anybody giving an advance hint of the verdict.

The guilt of the 22 men and the six Nazi organizations almost certainly has been determined and the sentences fixed. Translations of the finished verdict appeared complete and probably have been mimeographed.

Secretaries and interpreters who have seen the verdict were under close guard.

The British, French, American and Russian justices were determined that their decision in the historic trial must reach the world only through open court sessions next Monday and Tuesday.

An official announcement said any person responsible for a "leak" on the verdict runs a serious risk of being prosecuted by the tribunal of the American army.

Earlier it was disclosed that any death sentences imposed will be carried out in private, with reporters and photographers barred. Only official record pictures will be taken of executions, according to latest plans.

Military police mounted guard over the courthouse room where the verdict is being prepared. Others watched the living quarters of translators and scrutinized conversations between confidential personnel and unauthorized persons.

Gathering pressure was evident around the courthouse as the verdict days approached. The 21 defendants waited in the cells which some have occupied for more than a year.

Winchell — On Broadway

MEMO TO Mr. Josef Stalin, The Kremlin, Moscow, USSR.—

Your Excellency: Your declaration of yesterday was most welcome. It took us all by surprise, because the actions of all Big Powers since San Francisco have pointed in the opposite direction.

For instance, on the very front page of the N. Y. Tribune your Ambassador to the United States, Mr. Gromyko, said that U. S. and Brtish troops were causing uneasiness. If our army causes fear, don't you think that the 6½ million Russians under arms also frighten people?

You state that war talk is caused by the desire for more concessions. The U. S. gave up its biggest "concession" in the Far East, the Philippines. We haven't read of you giving up Estonia, Lithuania or Latvia, nor have we heard of England giving up India.

You state that you do not intend to use Germany against the western nations. Yet you personally have stated, and the Russian radio has continually proclaimed, to the world and to the German people, that a free, independent and very strong Germany is a keystone of Russian policy. Does that mean you intend to use Germany to protect you from us? It certainly got us both in a beautiful mess the last time we tried it.

You must admit you have treated us with highest suspicion. Mr. Gromyko's attack on us in Tuesday's paper proves my point. Now, suppose we applied the same test to you?

On July 10, 1946, your Mr. Molotov declared in Paris that it had become fashionable to talk of the dismemberment of Germany. He went on to say that the key to the dismemberment of Germany was to separate her from the Ruhr. Without the Ruhr, he declared there can be no Germany. This, said Mr. Molotov, was opposed by Russia. The destruction of Germany should not be our objective, he said. And then, Mr. Stalin, he quoted you as saying: "It is no more possible to destroy Germany than it is to destroy Russia."

* * *

Mr. Molotov stated in July the same position so unmistakably that YOU frightened Us into rebuilding Germany—just as your huge army and your unabated war preparations are forcing us to do the same thing.

* * *

You say that you have a treaty with Great Britain and France. But you also had a treaty with Finland—though the Finns didn't find it much of a guarantee. You, at this very minute, have a treaty with Chiang Kai-shek—but Russian war materiel, including heavy artillery, is being supplied to the Chinese Communists by the army of the Red Banner.

So, both in the East and West people are just as suspicious of treaties as you are—and you must be very suspicious to ring down an iron curtain and keep 350 divisions under arms behind it.

We think the best policy for peace was offered by a Russian—Litvinov. He established the exact ratio for one nation's armament to another. Nothing to Nothing. Zero to Zero. Zip to Zip. 0 to 0. That is the exact and correct ratio for armies, Marshal Stalin, BEFORE ANY world war—because it may be the ratio of their COUNTRIES—AFTER it!

When did you say the Iron Curtain would be lifted? And the Russian army demobilized to the same extent as the American? When am I and other newspapermen going to be as welcome and as free to go wherever we please in Russia as your Ehrenberg and Tass Agency are free to move about in the U.S.A.? Hasn't the time come for us to trade freely our products and, more important, our ideas and ideals—instead of threatening to trade the most lethal punches? —Yours Respectfully, Hopefully, but Cynically—Walter.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—For a commentary on Henry Wallace's approval of the new Russian empire, I refer to house document 541, 78th congress, second session, entitled "Events Leading Up to World War II."

This book was published by the government printing office in 1942.

Here are pertinent entries, some of them abbreviated, but none distorted:

March 13, 1939: Germany presented ultimatum to Czechoslovakia. (To demand dismissal of ministers accused of being anti-Nazi.)

March 14: Autonomous Slovak and Ruthenian diets proclaimed their independence and appealed to Germany and Italy for protection.

Aug. 23: German-Russian nonaggression pact signed.

Sept. 1: Germany invaded Poland. Finland declared her neutrality.

Sept. 17: Russia invaded Poland from the east.

Sept. 28: Germany and Russia partitioned Poland in border and friendship treaty.

(Esthonia signed 10-year assistance pact with Russia, giving Russia material, air bases and military rights.)

Oct. 5: Latvia signed 10-year mutual aid treaty giving Russia naval and air bases on Baltic.

Oct. 10: Russia concluded 15-year mutual assistant pact with Lithuania.

Oct. 11: President Roosevelt wrote President Kalinin of Russia his hope that "Soviet Union will make no demands on Finland inconsistent with amicable relations between the two and the independence of each."

Oct. 14: Official Russian demands—garrisons and exchange of territory—presented to Finland.

Oct. 23: Finland made counter-proposals to Russia and Russia rejected them.

Nov. 3: Russia annexed Polish western Ukraine and western White Russia. Finland offered Russia concessions.

Nov. 26: Russia protested to Finland against "unexpected artillery fire from Finnish territory." Finland said firing came from Soviet side.

Nov. 29: Russia broke relations with Finland.

Nov. 30: Roosevelt regretted Russian attack on Finland. Russia set up Finnish Soviet, to entice part of the Finnish people to its side.

Dec. 4: Russia rejected League of Nations proposals for settlement of Finnish dispute, insisting there was no war but that peaceful relations now existed between the new people's provisional government which had asked Soviet to help it "liquidate the dangerous seat of war created by its 'former rulers.'"

Dec. 10: Finland appealed to all nations for help.

March 12, 1940: Russian-Finnish peace treaty signed at Moscow.

June 15: Russian troops marched into Lithuania, after ultimatum.

June 16: Russia delivered ultimatum to Latvia.

June 17: Russia announced Esthonia and Latvia had agreed to passage of Russian troops. Accused Latvia of anti-Russian alliance with Lithuania and Esthonia.

July 19: Esthonia, Latvia and Lithuania "asked incorporation" into Soviet Russia, by resolution of newly-elected Communist-dominated parliaments which proclaimed them Soviet republics.

Aug. 25: Esthonia, Latvia and Lithuania ratified incorporation into Soviet Russia.

June 22, 1941: Germany invaded Russia. Russia again attacked Finland.

From the foregoing, the conclusion may be drawn that Wallace, by his recent endorsement of extension thus far and the further aspirations of the new Soviet empire, approves the developments here recorded.

On the same basis the conclusion is reasonable that he would justify the creation, on Soviet soil, a new people's provisional government of the United States, composed of immigrant Communist Hollywood actors, Earl Browder, William Z. Foster, and other critics of present conditions in the United States. The invasion or bombardment of the United States by a Russian "army of liberation" would follow according to the precedents.

Othman — On Anything

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—If I go to jail for spilling war secrets in this dispatch, then, so help me, Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King is going to be my cellmate.

George Meader, my legal counsel, says so. He works for the senate war investigating committee when he's not busy advising me on my chances of staying out of a striped suit. Horizontal stripes, whooie. I am in a jam. So is the admiral.

He was sore because he said the committee accused him of spending $134,000,000 to build a pipeline in Canada and Alaska, when one tanker sailing regularly from Seattle could have carried more oil.

The admiral appeared before the committee to announce that the joint chiefs of staff approved the pipeline; not he alone. He handed to the press copies of the statement he intended to read and included a few letters from big-wigs.

* * *

Sen. James M. Mead of New York said he'd be durned if he could see how the admiral could accuse the committee of distorting the facts, when it couldn't get the facts. The Canol file of the chiefs of staff continues to be marked "secret."

* * *

So Sen. Mead called up the chief's secretary, Col. Andrew J. McFarland, a plump little fellow in a summer soldier-suit, who spent an uncomfortable hour trying to explain why the dope on the pipeline still was secret.

"All the letters in the file are marked secret?" insisted Sen. Homer F. Ferguson of Michigan. The colonel said they were:

"Then how come Admiral King handed to the press not more than 15 minutes ago this letter from Admiral William D. Leahy to James F. Byrnes?" Sen. Ferguson demanded. "We have a copy of that letter, but our copy is stamped, secret. We cannot use it."

The colonel mumbled on that one; I thumbed through Admiral King's handout and there was the letter, all right, saying the chiefs of staff had economized on their Polar pipeline. It said the pipe would cost only $134,000,000. It added that they believed it was necessary to win the war.

That is the entire secret. It is why I am in danger of a term in the clink. I have told all. Lawyer Meader said this was a crime, all right, but that if the federals nabbed me, they'd have to handcuff the admiral, too.

DREAMBOAT'S READY TO GO

Plane Poises For Takeoff on 10,000-Mile Flight Today.

HONOLULU —(INS)— An Army Superfortress was poised on the runway, at Honolulu's John Rogers field today for a 10,000-mile non-stop flight to Cairo, Egypt, via the North Pole.

Col. C. S. "Bill" Irvine, pilot of the "Pacusan Dreamboat," said he would take off today providing weather conditions improve slightly.

The Pacusan—standing for Pacific Air Command, U. S. Army—was loaded with 13,000 gallons of gasoline. Its weight of 147,000 pounds is 27,000 pounds over the maximum designed load for a B-29.

Col. Irvine expects the flight to take from 42 to 45 hours depending upon head or tail winds.

The flight will take him and his nine crew members over Point Barrow, Alaska, and London. The polar portion of the flight is to be made in a period of fall twilight, posing navigation problems since no celestial bodies will be visible.

Purpose of the flight, according to the army, is to test newest airforce instruments and equipment and to determine the feasibility of flying new longrange aircraft over polar regions.

The stripped-down craft is the same B-29, which under the name "Dreamboat," was piloted by Col. Irvine in Nov., 1945, from Guam to Washington, D. C., to set a non-stop record of 8,198 miles in a little over 35 hours.

Greece Plans Elaborate Welcome For Monarch.

LONDON —(AP)— Aboard a private plane flying the Greek royal colors, King George II of Greece left England this morning to resume the throne of the strife-torn land from which advancing German armies drove him five years ago.

The Greek government has made elaborate plans to welcome the 56-year-old, Danish-descended monarch tomorrow morning.

Strict police precautions have been arranged to guard him upon his return, coming amid fierce border fighting and civil strife in northern Greece, which Premier Konstantin Tsaldaris has said have reached the magnitude of war.

The spokesman said King George would broadcast a message to the Greek people tomorrow night.

Blast Injures Bucyrus Man

BUCYRUS—Herbert Cress, employe of the Swan Rubber company here, escaped serious injury last night when the vulcanizing machine upon which he was working exploded and blew a seven-foot door, through a wall 20 feet away. The door missed Cress by inches. He was taken to City hospital, treated for burns on the face and chest, shock, and later released.

The explosion scattered debris over Mansfield street, which runs in front of the factory. The door hit a conveyor belt and put it out of commission. Because of the damages, the company will be closed until the first of the week, company officials said today.

Cress says the explosion was caused when the safety valve on the vulcanizer failed to work and release the high pressure.

CONDITION UNCHANGED

E. E. Brown, 62, of Crestline, driver of a car involved in the school bus accident Wednesday on West Fourth road remains in "fair" condition at Mansfield General hospital, it was reported today. Brown is suffering from a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Industry Asked to Play Major Role In Fire Prevention Week

Detailed outline of the part Mansfield industries will play in the city's observance of Fire Prevention week, Oct. 6-12, was given to almost a score of industrial representatives yesterday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce assembly rooms.

Wholehearted cooperation in the week's program was urged by Verne Kyle, chairman of the industrial committee. Floyd Dent, manager of the parade, which will be held Oct. 12, asked industries to enter floats.

Fire Chief L. J. Steele spoke on fire hazards common to factories, and W. G. Schultz, general chairman of the observance committee, encouraged industries to observe the week along with the city.

Posters for display on factory bulletin boards, urging fire prevention, were circulated.

The representatives were requested to hold evacuation drills and fire brigades, to make inspections of their plants, to discuss fire prevention in any employes' meeting and to mention fire prevention in all house organs.

Tells of Aims Of Foundation

The basic purposes of the National Home and Property Owners' Foundation, which will conduct a drive to enroll Mansfield property owners in its membership were outlined today by A. B. Reese, trustee of the foundation.

The foundation is a national union of home owners and other property owners, concerned primarily with national issues affecting the private ownership of real property, Reese said. Purpose of the organization is to protect the rights of home and property owners who seek to make secure their savings.

"The political strength of our people has been lessened by the concentration of power in an absentee government at Washington," Reese continued. "The democratic process of the old town hall meeting is now a thing of the past and we must revive its principles through wider and more thorough education on the workings of our national government and on the actions of our national representatives."

BROMFIELD AIDS FUND CAMPAIGN

Named Chairman of Sister Kenny Foundation Drive.

Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield has been appointed chairman of the literary division of the 1946 fund appeal for the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation.

Announcement of the appointment was made today by Kate Smith, national chairman, and Bing Crosby, chairman of the executive committee. The local half will be used to provide: scholarships for registered nurses to be sent to the Institute at Minneapolis for training as expert Kenny technicians; to defray expenses of physicians and surgeons who attend periodical demonstration courses at the institute; to assist local health authorities and medical societies during infantile paralysis epidemics; to provide funds for the treatment of indigent polio patients, regardless of race or religion; eventually to establish regional Sister Kenny clinics throughout the country, which would be staffed by the technicians trained under the state chapter scholarships.

BUCYRUS—Mrs. Elizabeth B. Roehr, 82, life-long resident of Bucyrus, died in Mercy hospital in Jackson, Mich., Thursday at 2 p. m. as the result of an automobile accident near that city at noon.

Mrs. Roehr was returning to Bucyrus with Miss Emma Solze and Miss Alberta Ensminger, after a month's vacation at Beulah Lake, Mich., when the car, driven by Miss Solze, was in collision with a truck. Miss Solze was taken to the Jackson hospital with cuts and bruises. Miss Ensminger escaped injury.

Mrs. Roehr's husband, Edward C. Roehr, prominent Bucyrus banker, died a number of years ago. She leaves a nephew, E. Blair Ruhl, who went to Jackson to make arrangements.

FPHA TO BRING UNITS IN FROM 2 AIR FIELDS

Buildings to Go Up on Sites on Grace Street and at Children's Home.

A Chicago building firm was authorized today by the Federal Public Housing Authority to begin moving seven army barracks from two Ohio air fields to Mansfield for use as 50 temporary apartments for veterans and their families.

Charles Lawrence, FPHA regional director, said the Lloyds Builders, Inc., of Chicago, have been ordered to proceed with moving of the barracks from Wright and Patterson fields, near Dayton, to two sites within Mansfield.

The director said that a 90-day completion date has been set for the project and that it should be completed by Dec. 28 if "strikes or material shortages" don't delay progress.

Apartments for 26 families will be erected from the barracks on Children's Home property, at Diamond and Hedges street, while 24 others will be built at a Grace street site between Dewey avenue and Cherry street, Lawrence said.

5 At Children's Home.

At the Diamond-Hedges site will be five buildings comprising 16 one-bedroom apartments, eight two-bedroom and three, three-bedroom units, the director said.

The Grace street site will have four buildings erected from the barracks to include 12 one-bedroom and 12 two-bedroom apartments.

W. B. Ford, chairman of the Mansfield housing authority, which is managing the housing project from the city side, said some grading work will have to be done on the Diamond-Hedges site and the sewer and water lines still must be extended to the lot lines of both sites.

Plan Meeting.

He said that the five-man authority is expecting to meet with the county commissioners today to discuss the possibility of using state-allocated money for the proposed 50-unit project.

Meanwhile, county commissioners, who have $64,149 of state aid funds for the housing emergency in Richland county, are still considering what to do with it.

Commissioner John W. Selby said that efforts would be made next week to locate portable buildings—surplus federal government property—that are suitable to house veterans and their families.

"If we can't get them we'll just have to build our own locally, although that is pretty expensive and the $64,000 wouldn't go far," Selby said. He added that there is "no chance" of the commissioners adding county money to the state funds.

Diphtheria Tests Prove Negative

SNYDERMEN READY FOR STREAKS

Al Henke, Dave Wentz Tyger Co-Captains

Though not in the best of physical condition, the Mansfield Tyger footballers are ready for the Sandusky Blue Streaks in the annual Dads' Night contest at Stadium field tonight at 8 o'clock.

Several injured members of Paul Snyder's grid aggregation were in uniform yesterday as the Bengals ran through their final light workout. However, Tackle Ray Beard will not start against the Sandusky team. Ollie Cline and Ross Frisbee, backs, and Bob Marth, tackle, are ready for action.

Beard, Cline and Frisbee were bruised in the Cleveland East battle last week while Marth has been having ear trouble.

Al Henke and Dave Wentz, lettermen, who played a bang-up defense game against East, will act as co-captains for the Tygers tonight. Wentz missed the 1945 Sandusky game because of injuries.

The Tygers want a bit of revenge tonight and are favored to win. Mansfield has beaten Marion Harding, 33 to 13, and East, 7 to 6, while Sandusky was smothered by Cleveland Collinwood, 42 to 0, and Elyria, 39 to 0.

In 1945, Mansfield took an unbeaten record to Sandusky and came home on the short end of a 15 to 6 count. The Streaks lost their opener in '45 but were unbeaten during the remainder of the schedule.

Coach John Weis has only four lettermen available and the Blue Streaks have shown a forward-passing defense laxness. Sandusky has size but lacks experience. However, Weis' athletes have been pointing for the Bengals and should make it an interesting game.

Snyder has worked all week smoothing the Bengal offense and his charges should take to the air tonight more than any other time this season. Ollie Cline, providing his throwing arm is in shape, will handle the Tygers aerial chores.

Harold Arlin, president of the school board and athletic association, spoke at a Tyger club rally last night at Senior high school. Arlin discussed the Tyger athletic setup and the costs of the new stadium.

Movies of the Tyger-East grid game were shown and Norm Henline gave a scouting report of Sandusky.

The Tyger club has chartered a bus to go to Portsmouth next week. Anyone interested in making the trip can call Hank Richards at Westinghouse.

Tickets for the Mansfield-Portsmouth game at Portsmouth, Oct. 4, are available at Senior high school.

Colonels Map Strategy For Little World Series

LOUISVILLE, Ky. —(AP)— The Louisville Colonels of the American Association mapped final strategy today for their clash here Saturday night with the Montreal Royals of the International league in the first of the little world series games.

The Royals tucked the International league's Governors' cup series away last night with a 7-4 triumph over the Syracuse Chiefs to qualify to meet the Colonels. They left Syracuse last night for Louisville.

Zale Defends Title Tonight

NEW YORK—(AP)—An explosion goes off in Yankee Stadium at 9 o'clock tonight, and the fellow who walks out of it all in one piece — whether it's titleholder Tony Zale or challenger Rocky Graziano—winds up with the middleweight championship of the world.

That's how most folks figure this taffy-pull in which the 32-year old ex-Indiana steel-puddler puts his crown on the line for the first time in his five years as champion against the young tough guy challenge of a 24-year old Rocky the rock and his rock-a-bye punch from the sidewalks of New York's Lower East Side.

From all you hear along Bash boulevard, it practically has to wind up with one or the other hearing the birdies sing some time along the 15-round derby route.

That is why, too, that promoter Mike Jacobs is expecting to hold a party for some 40,000 customers and a gate of over $400,000—possibly exceeding even the all-time record of $452,648 for a clambake between a couple of little men, other than heavyweights.

Madison After First League Victory at Orrville Tonight

Mansfield Madison will be after its first Northeastern Buckeye league victory tonight when the Rams meet an undefeated Orrville eleven on the Orrville field.

Coach Jeff DeHaven, with his traveling squad of 35 players, will depart for Orrville by bus around 5 p. m.. Suffering their first defeat at the hands of a powerful Oberlin team, 13 to 12, last Friday night, the Rams will be fighting to get back in the winning column.

Orrville has one of its best teams and has defeated Akron Coventry and Rittman. In their opener, the Railroaders edged Coventry, 13 to 12.

Last Friday, in the league opener, Orrville massacred Rittman 40 to 0. Bill Codiano and Ken Wilford were the stellar players of the game when they accounted for six touchdowns on passing and running plays.

DeHaven said that his charges must stop both Codiano and Wilford, and has stressed pass defense in practice sessions this week. It was the passing of Behr, Oberlin back, that was costly last week and DeHaven is not taking any chances tonight.

Coach Bill Kopcial's Madison reserves defeated the Loudonville reserves 19 to 6 yesterday afternoon on the Rams field. Eugene Riblett, Dwaine Steimens, and Dick Broach scored the Madison touchdowns and Ray Bader converted the extra point.

Kopcial's team plays Bellville reserves Monday on the Rams field at 4 p. m.

The probable starting line-up for tonight's game follows:

Johnny Demchuk Successful In Mat Title Defense

Johnny Demchuk successfully defended his junior heavyweight title last night when he defeated Angelo Martinelli in the main-go at the Armory.

In the preliminary match Wild Bill Zimovich was given the decision over Sonny Myers when Myers was disqualified for roughing up Referee Frank Grazl.

Les Dye, former Syracuse and Washington Redskin end, has taken over the head coaching job at Clarkson Tech.

Appleseed 11 Rolls Over Galion, 45-0

Johnny Appleseed junior high footballers went on a scoring spree yesterday afternoon to defeat Galion, 45 to 0, in the seasonal opener for Coach Norm Henline's squad on the Pioneer field.

John Bricker, substitute back, showed plenty of pigskin skill when he scored two touchdowns on runs of 40 and 50 yards, and three extra points.

Howard Tipper, only '45 letterman, performed as expected when he went around end for two TD's.

Charlie Marchant, Pioneer fullback, plunged through center for another six-pointer, while Jack Bargahiser and John Anderson each crossed the goal-line via the aerial route.

The line-up follows:

* * *

Appleseed (45)	Pos	Galion (0)

Flatbush Talks of Total Victory; Dodgers Narrow Margin of Cards

By CARL LUNDQUIST

NEW YORK—(UP)—The broiling battle for the flag between the Dodgers and Cardinals was at the "win, lose, or draw" stage today and in Brooklyn they were talking of nothing but "total victory."

Flatbush was proud of its "Bums," who bounced back to a big 8 to 2 victory yesterday over the Philadelphia Phillies, creeping once again to within a half-game of St. Louis.

The Dodgers, who have but single games left on Saturday and Sunday with Boston, are idle today while the Cards begin the first of their three-game series with the Cubs.

Durocher said he would use Lefty Joe Hatten, his prize rookie, against the Braves on Saturday. Hatten has beaten the Braves three times without a defeat.

Although the Dodger domo would make no commitment on his Sunday pitcher, it was believed that he would come back with "Kurvin' Kirby" Higbe, his right handed ace, who mowed down the Phils yesterday.

Higbe was fast and his curve was breaking perfectly and it was not until he eased up in the late innings that the Phils could touch him.

He struck out six, did not issue a pass, and from the second inning until one man was retired in the seventh, did not permit a man to get on base.

He got 13-hit help from his mates including a tremendous 375-foot homer by Joe Medwick with a man on base.

There was only one unhappy note. That was the bitter blow suffered when Pete Reiser, "the unluckiest guy in baseball," suffered a broken bone above his left ankle when he slid back to first as Philly Pitcher Charley Schanz tried to pick him off base in the first inning.

Hank Greenberg's home run hitting featured other games yesterday. The Detroit first baseman got two as the Tigers trimmed St. Louis, 6 to 3, and increased his total to 44, six more than Ted Williams.

Mickey Haefner of the Senators held the Athletics to six hits as Washington won, 2 to 0.

In the National league, Chicago took a half-game lead over Boston in their fight for third place by beating Pittsburgh, 5 to 3, while the Braves split with the Giants, winning 8 to 0 and losing 5 to 4.

North Fairfield semi-pro baseballers won 16 to 21 games this summer.

'46 Pigskin Season In Full Glory

NOTRE DAME-ILLINOIS FUSS TOPS GRID MENU

By FRED THARP, News-Journal Sports Editor.

With the prologue out of the way, the whole 1946 gridiron cast will parade across the nation's pigskin stage in all its splendor this week-end.

Illinois and Notre Dame, top performers in the production, will probably steal the show. Their battle, so far it's been one of the crying towels, is likely to be the top argument in the country all season.

The Illini opened by smothering Pittsburgh, 35 to 7.

Coaches Frank Leahy of Notre Dame and Ray Eliot of Illinois have been loud and long in the praises of each other and tearfully admitting that the opposition has everything. This much is sure, however, Notre Dame faces the toughest opening game in its 58 years of football.

Ohio State, with Paul Bixler up, meets Missouri in the top Ohio battle tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the Columbus horseshoe. Bix's Buckeyes are loaded to the locker room with talent this season but so is every other organization in the country. Missouri dropped its opener to Texas, 42 to 0.

Last week's jaunt into the realm of prognostication went along very well. Of 28 games picked only two failed to live up to this scribe's pre-game ideas. Cincinnati ripped into surprised Indiana and came out on top, 15 to 6, while Kentucky kicked over Mississippi, 20 to 6.

The Cincinnati-Indiana fuss undoubtedly will stand as one of the top upsets of the season as the Hoosiers copped the Big Nine crown in '45. The coaching wizardry of Ray Nolting, the old Chicago Bear righthalf, was one of the prime factors in the decision.

Seasonal standing: Won 26, Lost 2. Pct. .929.

Here we go again on a quick round of the nation's gridirons.

Illinois-Notre Dame — Buddy Young & Co. look plenty tough but Leahy has 44 lettermen including Johnny Lujack, pass-master, and a super-tough line. Out on a limb but—NOTRE DAME.

Ohio State-Missouri—It should be a breeze for the Bucks although Missouri doesn't figure to be as bad as it looked against the power-laden Longhorns—OHIO STATE.

Army-Oklahoma — They say Doc Blanchard has a bad leg but the great one will probably play if he can stand. Doc limped from the field after the first quarter of the Villanova contest. ARMY.

Michigan-Indiana—Indiana may be bouncing back like the boys say but they haven't bounced far enough to tag the Wolves. MICHIGAN.

Oklahoma A. & M.-Arkansas—As long as Bob Fenimore remains at the Aggie institution, picking games in the southwest is a cinch. OKLAHOMA.

Texas-Colorado — Padding the average. TEXAS.

To those who eagerly await their new Chevrolets . . .

Here Is the Latest News about Chevrolet Deliveries

Everybody from factory to dealer is doing everything that can be done to speed deliveries to you

We have been informed by the Chevrolet Motor Division that the past month has witnessed only a slight improvement in the rate of production of new Chevrolet passenger cars. As a result, shipments of new cars to dealers for delivery are still far below the level we and the factory had hoped to attain by this time. In fact, through August, Chevrolet's output of cars in 1946 was only 22.6% of the number turned out during the corresponding period of 1941.

We know that Chevrolet is doing everything possible to step up its production totals—to ship more and more cars to us and to its thousands of other dealers throughout America . . . and we know, too, that we are assured of getting our full proportionate share of the current output and of future production gains.

Disappointing as the total figures have been—and despite the fact that Chevrolet was out of production entirely during the first three months of the year—it is nevertheless true that Chevrolet led all other manufacturers in production of passenger cars during June 1946, and has continued to maintain its lead in total production from that day to this.

We shall continue to make deliveries of new Chevrolets to our customers just as fast as we receive them; we regret delays as deeply as you do; we thank you for your friendly patience and understanding; and we promise you a new high motoring experience when you take delivery of your new Chevrolet, giving BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST!

Keep Your Present Car Alive

Meanwhile, may we suggest that you safeguard your transportation by bringing your car to us for service now and at regular intervals. Let us help you to keep it in good running condition—to maintain its performance, appearance and resale value—until the day when your new Chevrolet comes along.

PRICE BOOSTS CRIPPLE FUND

Milk Fund Cost Increases $666 Over Year Ago.

Two recent increases in the price of milk may cost the Community Fund several hundred dollars more this year in upkeep of its Milk Fund, one of its Red Feather agencies, Mrs. Jane Williams, executive secretary said today.

"Last year the children were provided milk twice a day at the cost of three and three-quarter cents a bottle," Mrs. Williams said. "This year the same amount of milk costs the fund four and one-half cents a bottle.

"Last year the Milk Fund purchased 88,792 half-pint bottles of milk. If the same amount is purchased this year, it will increase the cost of maintenance of the fund $666."

The Community Fund paid out $1,045 for free milk in the city's elementary schools last year, almost a third of the total of $3,330 spent for milk in the schools.

This year, children who buy milk each day will be required to pay 23 cents a week. Last year they paid 19 cents a week. If children desire milk twice a day, the price per week will be 45 cents as compared with 38 cents last year.

In addition, the agency last year paid out $700 to meet emergency clothing needs of children in both elementary and high schools, Mrs. Williams said.

Ghezzi and Hogan Favored at Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. —(AP)— Victor Ghezzi, former PGA champion from Knoxville, Tenn., and wee Ben Hogan, 1946 PGA title holder and leading money winner, today moved into the favored spots of the $10,000 Dallas open after Sammy Snead faltered yesterday in the opening round of his defense of last year's championship.

Ghezzi paced the field of eight with a 35-34—69, one under par, with Hogan a stroke behind with a 35-35—70 even par.

Snead, British open champion, lost out yesterday on the incoming nine where he was seven over. His day's score was 36-42—78.

Golfers tied with Hogan at par-70 included Dick Metz, Chicago and Herman Keiser, Akron, Ohio.

Ohio University will use the single wing almost exclusively this year.

Guns to Blaze Thursday Next

Mansfield police and state highway patrolmen will come out with guns blazing next Thursday—but they won't be shooting at crooks.

Local police have accepted the challenge of patrolmen at the state patrol's sub-station for a pistol match at the police range on the Lexington-Shelby road.

The teams, comprising four to six men each will fire 50 shots at ranges varying from seven to 60 yards. They'll shoot from the ground, from a sitting position, from the hip and standing. They'll have to get all 50 shots off in 5 minutes and 45 seconds.

Pistols will be regulation, .38 caliber police revolvers. Targets will be man-sized silhouettes. Teams have yet to be selected.

Cook will complete the unexpired term of John W. Graham who recently accepted a position in Morgantown, W. Va. Graham served as treasurer of the chest from its organization in 1941.

The committee decided to call a meeting of the trustees in January to vote on a proposal that the Community and War Chest be liquidated Henry G Brunner, president of the chest, said the war chest is not conducting a campaign this year since the need for war service no longer exists.

Even more important than its high octane rating...

MARATHON GASOLINE IS NOW SEASONIZED...FOR FALL

You know its octane rating is tops. But even more important (according to automotive engineers) is its new power-balance for Fall driving conditions. Marathon Seasonized Gasoline is temperature-adjusted at the refinery to give you the season's best combination of STARTING POWER, PICK-UP POWER and RUNNING POWER. Drive in. Fill up. Keep your car's performance as brisk and keen as the weather.

Look for the new season marker at the nozzle. It's your assurance of...

★ Most miles per gallon ★ Fastest starting under all conditions ★ Swiftest pick-up in every speed range ★ Smoothest engine performance at all speeds ★ Rugged, responsive power ★ Added protection against knocking ★ Extra protection against wear

MARATHON GASOLINE IS A SEASON-BALANCED BLEND OF LIGHT, MEDIUM AND HEAVY GASOLINES

LIGHT GASOLINE vaporizes fast for quick starts. It's the "paper" that lights the fire.

MEDIUM GASOLINE accelerates the warm-up. It's the "kindling."

HEAVY GASOLINE catches last, produces most of the power It's the "coal"

You need all three gasolines blended in the right refinery balance for best all-round performance You're sure of "right balance' with Marathon Seasonized gasoline, correctly rebalanced for every season of the year

Explosive Trieste Problem Again Threatens Peace Parley Delay

RUSSIAN ASKS REOPENING OF ENTIRE ISSUE

Failure to Agree Likely to Make Oct. 15 Adjournment An Impossibility.

PARIS —(INS)— The explosive problem of Trieste threatened again today to throw an oversized wrench into the speeded-up machinery of the Paris peace conference.

The special sub-commission empowered to draw up a statute for Trieste indicated today that it has not been able to reach agreement on any important point.

Sub-Commission Chairman K. V. Novikov of Russia suggested that a report be drawn up to this effect and submitted to the Italian political and territorial commission, thus returning the whole problem to the commission.

Novikov's suggestion will be discussed later today.

Yesterday Italians and Yugoslavs, who had been meeting privately in an effort to resolve the Trieste dispute, broke off all negotiations and admitted complete failure.

It appeared likely that the Trieste problem would make it impossible for the peace conference to finish its work and adjourn by Oct. 15. Most of the commissions were moving at increased tempo.

The Italian political and territorial commission held an overtime meeting to clear up pending matters so that it might be able to tackle the Trieste problem the first thing tomorrow.

In the case of the Italian political and territorial commission, where articles three-four and 16 of the Italian peace treaty had been relegated to indefinite postponement, the commission decided that these would be the first subjects on the Saturday agenda.

STEER GOES HIGH

HAMILTON—(AP)—A 4-H club grand champion steer, an Angus breed, brought 95 cents a pound when auctioned yesterday in the annual 4-H sale at the Butler county fair.

Truman Backs Meat Ceilings

Mayor Kelly of Chicago called for a two-month moratorium on meat price controls. Kelly is a member of the Democratic party's executive committee, which met here yesterday.

Earlier, House Majority Leader McCormack of Massachusetts demanded meat controls be lifted for 60 days.

The party's executive committee directed Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan to discuss with the price decontrol board "and any other proper authorities ways and means of increasing the meat supply available to the American people."

Mr. Truman stated flatly "dire predictions of a meat famine are without basis." Then, asserting that present ceilings are "fair and equitable," he added:

"An increase in prices or the abandonment of price control on meat now would, in the long run, add to rather than solve our difficulties."

Looking to the news ahead, Mr. Truman said:

"To the extent that livestock is going into feed lots and being fed to higher grades and better weights, the result will be a greater quantity and better quality of meat in the near future than would be the case if there had been a continuance of the premature marketing of livestock."

The president tempered this by saying that despite the "outlook for temporary relief in the next few months, it is hard to predict what may happen in the spring." It is "very possible," he added, "that there may be periods in various parts of the country when meat is scarce."

McGregor Blasts OPA

"'We, the people' want the right to produce without government interference and want a speedy return to the freedom that was once ours."

Purdy Statement.

Purdy's statement said:

"Many people do not realize that OPA controls fix wages in the Building Trades Industry as well as it fixes the price of meat.

"When labor is dissatisfied with wages, we have strikes. Wages have been increased one or more times in all branches of the Building Trades Industry within the past year.

"The cattle industry is now on strike. OPA increased prices only on the higher grades of beef and then only about 11 per cent. It is not necessary to repeal the law to effect a reasonable increase in prices the same as wages are increased.

"Your returned servicemen will be hurt most by runaway prices in building homes and by runaway prices in the cost of living.

"I call upon everyone to make a little sacrifice, if necessary, to help pay our debt to our servicemen.

"I call upon the government to administer the law as it is intended, a flexible price policy to permit a reasonable return to farmers, cattlemen, as well as to labor."

DETERMINED TO DIE

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Slipping from the grasp of a passerby who attempted to rescue him, a man identified by police as Paul Yesny, 63, plunged 100 feet to his death from the Washington Park bridge in suburban Newburgh Heights last night.

STOCK LEADERS SWITCH AGAIN TO DOWNTREND

Market Reverses After Three Straight Sessions of Rising Prices.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stocks, with a few exceptions, contracted a limp in today's market after three straight rising sessions.

Most leaders switched to the loss column in the wake of a slightly mixed opening but dealings were even slower than in the preceding session . . . Extreme declines of fractions to 3 points or more were reduced here and there near the fourth hour.

Brokers reported that buying orders under the market were plentiful but that some customers inclined to cash quick profits on the idea the recent recovery was technical and the bear move might be extended. Favorable yields of investment issues were said to have inspired modest bidding.

On the offiside were Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, U.S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Pennsylvania Railroad, Northern; Pacific, Southern Railway, Baltimore & Ohio, Montgomery Ward, Du Pont, Dow Chemical, U. S. Gympsum and Standard Oil (NJ). Advancing at intervals were Eastman Kodak, North American and International Nickel.

Detailed information may be obtained from Hoover at the post office.

Hi-Ho-Elevator! Stop That Thief

BALTIMORE —(AP)— Emanuel A. Perrin, didn't use a horse, automobile, radio, airplane, boat, or other accepted method to catch a criminal—he used an elevator.

Perrin was interviewing two applicants for work in his 15th floor office when one of the men grabbed $5.25 from the counter, and ran down the stairway.

Wasting no time, Perrin rang for an elevator and made a non-stop trip to the main floor. He found a policeman in the street, and the officer started up the stairs, meeting his man head-on at the second floor landing.

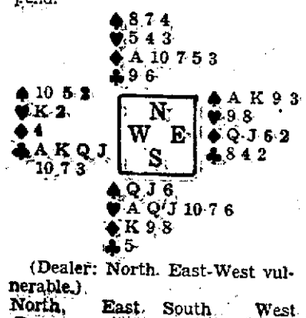
Barclay On Bridge

LOSE A TRUMP FIRST

GIVING UP the first trick in trumps, remaining prepared to win the next two, is often preferable to winning the first two and giving up the third. This form of play by a suit declarer is comparable in principle to the hold-up play in No Trumps. Its purpose is to retain control of the situation and protect the contract against danger that otherwise would impend.



(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 ♠	1 ♥	2 ♣
Pass	2 ♠	3 ♥	4 ♠

In the East was one of those chaps who "values time" and does not like to "waste" it. After South led the Heart A and followed with the 10 to the K, East did some very quick counting.

"Seven club tricks plus one in hearts and two in spades makes ten and game," he reckoned. "So all I have to do is get the trumps out and run my tricks."

That's what he tried to do. He took his third and fourth tricks with the spade A and K, then led the 3 to the Q. South then made the obvious switch to a diamond which resulted in two tricks to set the contract. East kicked himself for not leaving a trump in dummy to ruff the second diamond.

Correct play would have been to send the spade 10 through to the J on the first trump trick.

You ask about the bidding? Yes. West knowingly preferred a risky trump suit to an 11-trick minor game.

Ruse Fails When Pillow Tumbles

NEW YORK —(AP)— Two thousand women, lined up at a well-stocked Brooklyn meat market, took it calmly when the management singled out pregnant women and put them at the head of the line.

That is, until one unidentified woman whose condition seemed obvious dropped a pillow she had concealed under her coat. Her face crimson, the woman hurried away, escaping a storm of threats and imprecations.

PILES ARE NEVER "MILD"
DANGER IN NEGLECT
No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.
Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves. Instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.
Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.
Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1946

Poorly timed, to say the least, is a new book which argues the benefits of an exclusive meat diet.

The nickel is rapidly superseding the penny as the coin representing a minimum of purchasing power.

Science now comes up with an idea that the educated classes are particularly susceptible to hay fever—if that's any satisfaction to you.

Pittsburgh's Strike Is Made Effective

PITTSBURGH has just been treated to a demonstration of the effectiveness of "the strike weapon" in enforcing demands of organized labor, and the experience has been so unpleasant that it was deemed advisable, "for the welfare of the city," to dissolve an anti-strike injunction and to drop contempt charges against union leaders who had defied the injunction.

While the original strike of power workers involved only about 3,500 persons, many more thousands were idled by sympathy strikes and lack of electric current, and there was a transportation tie-up when trolley operators and service workers left their jobs.

A fire-brand incident was the sentencing of a union leader to a year's imprisonment for contempt of court because of his refusal to end the strike—but it was quickly taken into account that the strikers wouldn't stand for any such high-handed procedure on the part of the law and their leader was released.

Now that it has been shown, time and again, that an organized minority can co-operate in a work stoppage that adversely affects millions of people, sometimes endangering lives and property, the problem is to find a way to resolve strike-breeding differences by friendly arbitration, and if government, management and labor cannot devise a workable plan for such an accomplishment there is likely to be inclination on the part of many people to feel that at least one of the essential qualifications for self government has not yet been sufficiently developed in this country.

More Seeking Higher Education

AMERICAN COLLEGES, starting a new academic year this month, report phenomenal enrollments. Many youths who had hoped to enter college could find no place. The available 1,600,000 college seats were competed for by 2,080,000 men and women.

This, apparently, is not a post-war educational boom, as was at first thought. Authorities like Frederick E. Robin, assistant director of the American Civil Liberties Union, predict that there will be 3,000,000 by 1950 and 6,000,000 by 1960 seeking higher education. Colleges see no promise of increased facilities to meet such demands.

A related serious educational problem confronts high schools. Teacher scarcity on these levels perils the literacy of America. War demands siphoned many teachers out of classrooms, and opportunities for greater earnings in other fields of endeavor — with comparable requirements — are apparently more attractive than a teaching career. Education of Young America thus becomes a major issue in the nation.

Objections To Proposed School Site

EXTENT of opposition to the site chosen by the board of education for proposed replacement of Newman public school, and reasons for the appearance of dissatisfaction, should be fully canvassed before any final decision is made in the matter.

While it is recognizedly impossible to choose a school site that pleases everyone, expressions of displeasure over the Central avenue location for what has been Newman school has been so loudly voiced as to indicate quite strong opposition by residents of the area directly concerned.

It was quite clearly stated, during the school bond issue campaign last year, that wishes of residents of the section which a school building served would influence the school board in choice of a new site, and a way should be found to reveal majority opinion of people affected before going further with purchase of the announced site.

Hoboes Adopt Appealing Platform

IT IS Malcolm W. Bingay, as an observer of current trends, who enthusiastically directs attention to the recently adopted platform of the Hoboes of America, assembled in national convention in Britt, Ia., and proposes Ben Benson, retiring King of the Hoboes, as candidate for president on any one of the left-wing tickets.

"Here is a man!", Mr. Bingay ejaculates. "He makes our former favorite, Henry Wallace, look like a fellow in the fog of his own vaporings."

And what are the chief points of this appealing platform? Well, here are a few of them:

"A four-hour day, for four days a week; three months vacation with pay: free transportation on railroads and buses; pensions of $100 a month for all over 60; a five-cent glass of beer for a nickel."

How can all this be done? Mr. Bingay suggests: "Henry Wallace can explain it to you—I'm not that bright."

Those Forecasters of Doom

YOU MAY also have noticed an inclination of some radio commentators to interpret world affairs in a gloomy way, as depicted in this pick-up from the New York Times Mazazine:

"When Whoozis thunders on the air he fills my soul with black despair. I lie awake in quivering fright, listening for the bombs all night. Next morn I search the paper through for the incident he alluded to and find six lines, with a Belgrade date, down at the bottom of Page 28."

Today's thought: If we had been "brought up" to believe that horse meat was proper food we wouldn't shudder at the idea of eating it.

Word comes that a cabbage head grown near Seattle, Wash., weighs 32 pounds—and a bright future in politics is anticipated.

One observer of women who wear slacks reaches the conclusion that "what most of them need is more spic and less span."

A further checkup reveals that President Truman isn't a very good piano player either.

Don't be discouraged—consider how the acrobat turns a flop into a success.

SEC Survey Reveals Significant Factors In Stock Market Decline

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—With the stock market "acting up" more than at any time in five years, no move has been made by President Truman or Secretary of the Treasury Snyder to bring the Securities and Exchange Commission back from Philadelphia. Created by Roosevelt to protect the public from Wall Street, the SEC is still being carefully kept out of Washington — and certain interests hope it remains in exile.

Meanwhile, had Secretary Snyder consulted the SEC before making his ambiguous statement on the slump, he would have found a significant report regarding the entire stock market. Here are some of the inside facts shown in the SEC report:

1. Several weeks before the market nose dive, new issues of airplane and auto stocks failed to arouse public buying, so that the underwriting houses, stuck with the stocks, had to raise cash to pay for them. This meant they had to unload government bonds and blue-chip stocks such as du Ponts and American Tel and Tel to get the cash. This was the first selling wave to sag the market.

2. Simultaneously, investment houses got wind of a new fear psychology. The public was afraid the long upward cimb of the market was at an end.

They wanted to sell before the downward trend started. Telltale sign was the fact that congressional defeat of OPA should have sent the market soaring, but didn't.

3. Later the commerce department issued a report that 18 billions in inventories had piled up on factory shelves, and that inventories were increasing at the rate of half a billion per month faster than goods are being consumed. This was a storm warning that the peak of the boom was passed.

4. The high employment rate (57 million in July) is due partly to the fact that the government is still spending 18 billions a year on armaments, almost three times the entire national budget in peace times.

Note—On the other hand, the U. S. population increase plus the tremendous buying power still in the hands of the public, plus the continued scarcity of many consumers goods, should offset some of these downward factors. The country, according to Washington economists, is basically sound.

Napoleon John L. Lewis.

John L. Lewis, the most powerful man in the American Federation of Labor, is now comparing himself to Napoleon.

Lunching with a friend who complimented him on his tremendous labor victories, Lewis swelled with pride as the friend recalled how John L. had bludgeoned more out of the White House for his miners than any other labor leader, had helped master-mind the AFL seamen's strike and had even been praised by Robert U. Wason, president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

"Don't you feel elated over all these victories?" asked the friend.

"No, not particularly," replied Lewis. "I guess Napoleon didn't feel particularly elated when he won a campaign he had planned for months."

Russia's Iron Curtain.

At a time when US-USSR relations are the most delicate in history, the state department's program to sell the Russian people on American friendship has hit another snag. This time it is the army.

It took most of last spring and summer for the state department to sell congress on the importance of using propaganda to penetrate the "iron curtain." Finally, however, congressmen realized that the Russian people were being fed a barrage of anti-American poison and that something should be done to counteract it. So funds were voted to send U. S. radio propaganda abroad.

Shortly after this, the French, under pressure from Communists inside their government, ordered the state department to quit broadcasting from its powerful Algiers station. Of necessity, the state department has now turned to Germany.

We have ample radio facilities in Germany and expect to retain them for a long time. But believe it or not the U. S. army objects.

Chief objector is conscientious Lieut. Gen. Lucius Clay, top administrator of the military government in the U. S. zone. General Clay, who has his problems, points out that propaganda broadcasts from the U. S. zone would be contrary to the Potsdam agreement unless the Russians are given the privilege of censoring American radio programs.

The state department counters with the reminder that the Russians have violated all sorts of agreements in their zone and there is no reason why we should continue to let Stalin get away with the claim, now taught by Moscow to the Russians and their satellite peoples, that the Red army alone defeated Japan.

Note—The state department is now trying to overrule Clay, may win out in the end.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, Sept. 27, 1926

Chamber of Commerce membership campaign opened with Ralph Moorhead as general chairman.

Ashland college gymnasium was destroyed by fire, with loss estimated at $31,000.

Dr. A. D. Shipley, medical practitioner here for 40 years, announced intention to make future home in Los Angeles, Calif.

Birth report:: Son to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beer, 54 Altamont avenue.

Rev. Harry Bright was appointed pastor of Central Methodist church to succeed Rev. H. R. Whiting who was transferred to Ashland.

Mrs. Richard D. Weddell, 50, died at her home, 640 Bowman street.

Edward Keefe, Sturges avenue, went to Cleveland to enter medical department of Western Reserve.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Horatio Nelson, the most famous of Britain's admirals, was born on September 29, 1758. By his great victory off Cape Trafalgar, Nelson destroyed the combined French and Spanish fleets, and with them Napoleon's hope of great naval power.

Dave Boone Says:

THE SEC announces an investigation into the stock-market slump and has sent questionnaires to all New York stock brokers asking for data on the selling. That gives you an idea of the screwball world we're living in.

* * *

As long as stocks go up by leaps and bounds, regardless of the business situation, it is quite okay. But if a little common sense and caution sets in and there's a readjustment of values it's a matter for immediate investigation to find the guilty party.

* * *

I take it that the SEC thinks stocks should always go up and that if they drop something is wrong and there must be dirty work at the crossroads.

* * *

I hope the questionnaire includes these questions: (1) Are you an honest man or do you try to make a profit on an investment? (2) If we let you off this time for deciding to sell a stock will you promise never to do it again?

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

Secretary Anderson says meat controls will stay . . . 111,000 meat workers are out of jobs, more than 20 thousand butcher shops are closed, hospital patients are getting horse meat and it's obvious the whole program is working dandy.

* * *

The CIO meat packers, with uncanny accuracy for a bum steer, want the packers, who haven't got any meat, investigated for not having any meat.

* * *

When you call a sandwich shop here the answer is "what will you have . . . turkey on toast, turkey on white bread or turkey on whole wheat?"

* * *

And in Columbus, Ohio, a man stole 18 pounds of pork and was sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary . . . the only place in town which has meat. Apparently he will be punished later.

As Others See It

Here's An Idea.

Assignment: America

—By KENNETH L. DIXON

Lack of Roads Bars Access to Timber.

WASHINGTON — Nobody paid much attention when the routine press release was handed out by the national housing agency.

Its first paragraph said, in part: "Funds for five additional access road projects to reach out-of-the-way government timber lands have been allocated to the department of agriculture for the use of the forest service."

It seemed unimportant at first blush, yet in one sentence of that handout lay the key to the national housing crisis.

It was not the whole solution, by any manner of means. For one thing, the road projects total only 68 miles in length. That involves the Clackamas River road, the Roaring River route and the Happy Camp road in Oregon; the Twisp River bridge and road in Washington, and part of the feeder road system on the Trinity Forest highway in California.

Obviously, it's only the beginning.

But, if you had visited the Pacific Northwest in recent months, as this correspondent has, you would have learned that the main cause of the current shortage of housing lumber lies in the utter inaccessibility of remaining virgin timber land.

There are other reasons, of course. One is the fact that the government owns most of that remaining timberland. Another is the confining nature of OPA lumber rules and regulations.

But lack of access roads was the main reason why two of the world's biggest and best-known sawmills recently closed their huge operations in Portland, Ore., swearing they never would saw another log.

When you consider that within 250 miles of Portland stands more than one-half the nation's remaining timber, such mammoth shutdowns soon show drastic results in terms of that cottage you're craving!

Moreover, countless small mill operators were suffering from the same shortage of access roads. Enough timber still stands in that northwest territory to rebuild all of America four times over, yet most of it now is Uncle Sam's timber—since the private tracts have been mostly logged up to the reforestation deadline — and to quote red-headed Walt Brown, a typical saw mill operator:

"We just don't have the roads to get into the government territory."

Thus, the big and small mill operators—who rarely see eye-to-eye on any subject—agreed on that score. They pointed out that the shortage of access roads to reach and bring in the logs was holding northwestern saw mills about 40 per cent under their past capacity.

In terms of home, that means that approximately a quarter of a million five-room frame houses cannot be built this year!

The housing agency announcement isn't going to do much to ease or solve that situation this year, although one road project will permit "maintaining present rates of output from operations producing some 40 million feet annually."

In other words, by adding some entrance roads, the present production of lumber—limited though it is—can be maintained.

However, the other projects included in the program will "permit cutting and handling of some additional 35,000,000 feet of timber in 1947 (next year, chums) for the veterans' emergency housing program and an additional 50 million feet in 1948."

Principal point behind the press release is this: regardless of other factors involving the country's current housing shortage, lack of lumber still remains the basic problem—and lack of access roads is largely responsible for that situation.

You will see little of the result this year, and not all of it next year—but by the middle of 1948, it's very likely to make the country's "great housing crisis" simply a subject for history!

Timely Editorial

No New Light Cars.

Announcement by Ford and General Motors that their plans for the introduction of new, lightweight low-priced models have been indefinitely postponed is bad news for many motorists who, beset by hikes in prices of food and other commodities, were looking forward with pleasure to an opportunity to buy new cars at something resembling pre-war costs. The promise that the new models would be considerably more economical to operate was another factor which will add to their disappointment.

Specific reason given by one of the manufacturers for the cancellations of the new models is the lack of assurance that supplies of basic materials will be available. While the auto makers do not say so, trade circles believe that a revival of plans for low-priced cars is not likely and that the principal reason is the extreme uncertainty as to probable production costs and, in fact, with respect to the whole future economic picture.—Columbus Dispatch.

ODD FACT

Actual reserves of iron ore in the Mesabi range, Minnesota, were estimated in 1945 to be capable of high production for another 100 years; the previous estimate was that they would be exhausted by 1950.

Dissatisfaction, But No "Uprising" In Illinois.

CHICAGO—If this state is any index, and it usually is, the forthcoming congressional elections yet fail to present a clear picture, which bears out the privately confessed uncertainty of dopesters in party headquarters in Washington.

Though no forecasts yet seem safe in Illinois, this is a good sampling starter for a check-up tour which this writer is making across the country. Illinois partakes of the nature of both East and West. It is a doubtful state politically, swinging back and forth through the years. Just now it has 15 Republican house members and 11 Democrats. No senate seat is at stake this year.

Republicans must break into great urban centers this year if they are to capture control of the house. This city offers a test. If they can make an appreciable dent in Mayor Ed Kelly's Democratic stronghold of Chicago and Cook county, it is likely they can do the same in other metropolitan centers.

They are conceded a good chance this year for some gains, though with no guarantee at this stage six weeks before election.

Democrats hold nine of the 10 house seats in Cook county, six in the city, three in part city, part suburban districts, with the veteran Republican Ralph Church, six terms in congress, occupying the other in a part city, part suburban constituency.

Another Democratic seat is in the East St. Louis 22nd district, while the state-at-large seat is held by Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas, outstanding woman Democratic leader.

As the over-all state party situation is developing, Republicans are favored by the general political apathy. A small vote is to their advantage. More people will stop and listen to a sidewalk spieler sell gadgets than to political meetings here this year. Republicans, likewise, are favored by the noisy grumbling about many things for which they blame the administration.

To their advantage also is the lively interest of the Cook county offices this November to spark a real drive to oust Democrats from city hall in next April's municipal election.

Ed Kelly has shown himself vulnerable by a partly successful revolt against him for political control of the city school system which brought a National Education association inquiry, a threat of removal of accreditation by the North Central association, and concessions in replacement of some school officials.

Democrats also may suffer, to what extent it is not yet possible to tell, from the left and right-wing fight in the party dramatized by dismissal of Henry Wallace from the Truman cabinet.

That has had a depressing effect on liberal elements, including the CIO, which is needed to get out the vote.

Mr. Wallace and Senator Pepper (D., Fla.) had been billed for extensive rallies in the state. How much they had been counted upon was plainly indicated when Bob Hannegan, national Democratic chairman, hastened to announce here in Chicago, in company with Mayor Kelly, that the ban against official party sponsorship of the two men does not preclude speeches under other auspices. Mr. Hannegan was worried.

There is thus in numerous circumstances a potential Republican uprising here. But the questionable factor is that, while people are grumbling about many things, they do not yet seem, according to reliable observers, to be mad enough to set off a real revolution.

Prosperity is general, which makes it difficult to translate dissatisfaction into action.

Sweden Looks Calmly to Peaceful Future.

STOCKHOLM — One of the little-noted miracles in a chaotic world is Prime Minister Per Albin Hansson of Sweden. This solid, stocky man who looks so very Swedish has been head of his country's government for fourteen years, while the rest of Europe was torn by wars and revolutions.

He has a quality of massive calm, like the granite rocks of his native coast. Yet he has the gift of compromise, which is the key to the success with which the Swedes have managed their affairs in recent times. Per Albin, as all Sweden calls him, is also perhaps the least egotistical man I ever encountered in public life.

When he is asked what is the chief reason Sweden was able to avoid war, he replies jovially, "good luck."

In the view of the prime minister, the new trade agreement with Russia, which calls for vast Russian purchases in Sweden, is merely one part of Sweden's post-war commerce. It represents part of an effort of planned society to keep prosperity at a high level and to prevent unemployment.

Negotiations with the Soviet Union have not been easy. The Russians presented a list of what they wanted over a five-year period. The Swedish negotiators replied that their industrialists could not adjust their production to such demands. This reply seemed to surprise the Russians greatly and they intimated that any really strong government would simply order it done.

The Swedes came back with a list of goods they would be able to furnish. This was drawn up with extreme care, since they know that one thing the Russians are unable to understand or forgive is failure to live up to the terms of such an agreement.

In past dealings with the Soviets, Swedish industrialists have always been paid promptly and they seem confident today that the terms of the agreement can be carried out.

When it goes into effect, about 10 to 15 per cent of Sweden's export trade will go to Russia. When they talk privately about the agreement, government officials point out that, while this is very much higher than the prewar ratio, the proportion of trade with Great Britain will be nearly twice as large, and this last is also based on extensive credits.

Members of the government protest that agreements with England and Russia do not interfere with the future pattern of multilateral trade sought by the United States.

They say they are putting into all agreements a clause stating that the agreement must be brought into conformity with the terms of the World Trade Association which the USA hopes to establish.

No one I have talked with here believes Russia wants war. While rumors of internal troubles must always be discounted, as we learned from experience with the Nazis, they do persist here on the periphery of the east in fairly detailed form. Those who know the world best from this northern perspective believe the USA line of firm resolution is the best line, even though it means risks which could cause a fatal explosion.

Farmer's Diary: "Constructive Farming."

"I BOUGHT that farm", I heard a farmer say, "and nobody's going to tell me what to do with it. I'll do as I please. If I want to cut off the ten acres of woods, it's my own business. The deed says "to have and to hold,"—I aim to get what I can while the getting's good. My wife and I are both past sixty—if we're to get any good out of what we own, we had better be about it."

To him, that farm was entirely a material thing—to be bought or sold like stone, or rails, or grain. He did not consider that here was something more enduring than any monument . . . something not to be exploited for present gain, but to be treated as a stake in the future, if only for his own best interest and most lasting satisfaction.

For the day he ceases to live, all he owns will belong to another. And what he does to the land that feeds him is written big for those to read who follow him.

What is more alive than the soil? When a fertile crumb no bigger than a pinhead contains thousands of bacteria . . . when constructive thoughts and human labor can make the perfection of the crop a human monument that inspires the neutral mind, that is progress, and positive spiritual uplook.

No farmer can combine forces with the Creator to accomplish something good for the future without he takes new life and power also to himself. The goodness that a real farmer puts into his soil, that produces abundance of healthful food and makes other lives more comfortable and happy, makes him a benefactor of the race.

And there is greater, more lasting joy in building up than in tearing down. Farms, like any other human property, are merely held in trust for the future. They belong to those who follow as well as to those who are here in the world today. The ignorant farmer who skims all the wealth from his land and sells it for money, robs the future—and also robs himself.

Advice Is Simple— 'Say It, Sit Down'

A bit of simple advice for speakers—"stand up, say it and sit down"—was given to Kiwanis club members and guests yesterday by Rev. Mathew G. Madden, pastor of First Congregational church.

Addressing the club's noonday luncheon in the Mansfield-Leland hotel, Rev. Madden stressed and illustrated the need for complete integration of the "three languages always used in speech—words, talk, and action."

"No man dares to talk unless he uses three languages," Madden said, "and the best formula for successful speech making, using these languages, is stand up, say it and sit down."

Rev. Madden was introduced as a new member of the Kiwanis club by Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler.

500 Elks, Guests Eat Their Fill, Enjoy Themselves at Picnic

Finger-crossing for clear skies paid off yesterday as more than 500 Elks and their guests enjoyed perfect picnic weather at the Mansfield lodge's annual clam bake at GBU park.

As the clams and chicken simmered in the broth prepared by Bob Hayes, who had more than his share of willing "supervisors" and "taste-testers," the men sang, played cards, and engaged in various athletic contests.

At 5 p. m. the men joined in a treasure hunt. The "super-detectives" who "copped" the prizes were James LeMunyon, Chuck Hayes, John Catlett, Edwin C. Geiger, C. J. Kalbfleisch, R. W. Stevens, George Mensch, W. R. Burkhardt, Sgt. Ray Baumann, USMC, H. D. Allen, and Robert Stevens.

The evening's festivities were concluded with more singing. Jack Town led off with his banjo and had the rafters ringing. The Liederkranz quartet provided humor and harmony in the songs it sang.

Stocking the Pantry Shelf

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
(Associated Press Food Editor)

In this season of plentiful fruits it is to be hoped that each of us has managed to keep a reserve of her canning sugar to do up some of the wonderful jellies and jams which can be made from fall fruits such as grapes and plums

Here are a few suggestions for preserves which will make beautiful Christmas presents later, and will gladden the hearts and palates of your family whenever they may eat them

Grape Jelly.

Dorothy Kilgallen—

Life in Hollywood: If I had a dollar for every time I have heard a motion picture expert say "She's great, of course, but she's not the type for this role," I would have enough money to buy Busher from Louis B. Mayer, and every time I hear the stock sentence I wonder exactly what it means. I don't think it means what you would think offhand; if it did, half the stars in Hollywood would have to stop lunching at Romanoff's because of acute lack of employment.

* * *

You might for example, take Paulette Goddard, who first won screen recognition as a scrubwoman in "Modern Times" and has since romped with muddy face and tattered frocks through pictures that called upon her to do the chores of a chambermaid and sprawl in gutters as "Kitty". Now if the boys in the land of sunshine really believe in an actress sticking to her type, they'd never have Paulette in rags. They'd do well to recall that she was married to her first millionaire at the tender but wise age of seventeen, and first attracted attention in their town by arriving for work at the Goldwyn lot in a different limousine every day.

Every shopgirl in the country is commonly thought to have as her idol Joan Crawford, possibly because Joan's early versions of the emotional plights of the white-collar-girl made every ribbon-seller in every department store or five and ten seem to be a character out of De Maupassant, at least. And Joan did her cinema strap-hanging in a way that, despite gowns by Adrian, struck the rank and file as reasonably realistic. What is there in the bejeweled and luxuriously furred sophisticate, who is fastidious to the point of having a complex and once went through a period in which she washed her hair twice a day and refused to touch anything that hadn't just come out of cellophane, to make them think she'd be ideal at slaving in a bargain basement or polishing the furniture in a one-room flat? Can anybody in the room visualize Joan grabbing a sandwich and a malted at the corner drug fountain.

* * *

Frank Sinatra is the "type" the rug-cutting younger generation adores, and if you ask a Hollywood expert why this is they say it's to a large extent because he looks like a rug-cutter himself and they feel he is completely simpatico. But a girl who danced with him in the Riocamba days when he was just beginning to win the love of the teen-agers has confided to me that he had a tough time making his way across the parquet in a simple two-step, and there was no suggestion in his footwork that he would momentarily break into a hot Lindy. (Of course, Gene Kelly has since taught him a thing or two, and now he is practically a Fred Astaire, but that's beside the point.)

* * *

When, in a film, Katharine Hepburn enters a penthouse drawing room or sashays through a chic metropolitan nitery, she is invariably swathed in something that suggests she has been sweating over a couple of hot dressmakers for weeks—a creation whispering of romance glittering with sequins, holding charm in every fold. But if the casting conference boys stuck to their "not the type" ditty, this would not be the case, because Hollywood knows as well as New York that Katie is much more apt to pass through the elegant portals of 21 in something like jodhpurs or well-tailored slacks.

* * *

And let's not forget the case of Linda Darnell. Why, she with only one ex-husband to her credit, has been chosen to play the ever lovin' Amber!

Recent engineering surveys show that Arkansas has a reserve of more than one trillion cubic feet of natural gas. Approximately 30 billion cubic feet were produced in 1944.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, September 28.

WHILE new ideas, inspirations, or "hunches" may be profitable and enjoyable as well, yet there are undercurrent factors to be viewed not only with alarm, but with utmost discretion, amiability and good will.

For any sort of prolific, happy and worthy solution to peculiar situations, rancor, deception, trickery or envy might precipitate regrettable if not shameful entanglements. Charm, magnetism and sweet words have more weight than duplicity.

Those whose birthday it is may be ready to put over some clever or unique plans or ideas, born of special creative gifts, imagination, intuition or just plain "hunches," but these should be carefully analysed and based on reason, since there are undercover or hidden factors of perilous nature.

Also, trickery, intrigue, queer propositions or personages may create misunderstandings or disagreeable complications. Ill-will enmity, jealousy, invoke peril.

A child born on this day may have exceptional creative ideas or skills, which it should put over with charm, finesse and good will, rather than duplicity, strife or enmity.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

"I'm looking for the spaghetti factory," a stranger in a shiny new car told two old characters lounging in front of the post office.

"Never heard tell of no spaghetti factory around here," said one of them. "I wouldn't have the faintest idea where it is."

After the stranger had driven off, the other native said, "Do you suppose that fellow could have meant the macaroni factory?" "I'll bet you're right," said Zeb to the first one. "Let's catch him."

They hollered at the top of their lungs and the stranger waited for them to overtake him. "Could it have been the macaroni factory you were looking for?" said Zeb. "I guess you're right," acknowledged the stranger. "Where is the macaroni factory?" "Oh," said Zeb. "We don't know where that is either."

* * *

The girl with the big blue eyes said, "I'm troubled by a nasty little wart that I'd like to have removed." "You've made a slight error," said the man in the white coat. "I'm a doctor. The divorce lawyer is three doors down the hall."

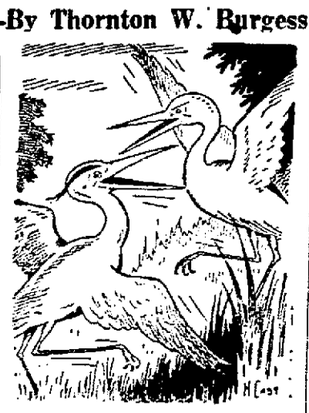
Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

Travel broadens any mind
That is neither deaf nor blind.
—Old Mother Nature.



There was a lot of threatening

Two cousins of nearly the same size, both long legs and long of neck, with spear-like bills, stood at the edge of the water on the shore of the Big river. You would have known that they were members of the same family even though they were in other ways wholly unlike in appearance. One was Longlegs the Great Blue Heron. The other, all white but legs and bill, was Cousin Egret.

A careless Frog poked his head out of water just in front of them and half way between them. Two long necks shot out and down. Two long bills came together and a badly frightened Frog stirred up the mud on the bottom.

"That was my Frog!" screamed Longlegs, striking at his cousin with his sharp bill.

"It was not! It was my Frog!" screamed Cousin Egret, dodging that wicked-looking bill and striking back with his own.

"I wonder what the Frog says," thought Peter Rabbit, his eyes popping with excitement at the prospect of a fight.

But there wasn't a fight. There was a lot of threatening, of dancing about with lifted wings, of half-hearted threats with great bills, of hissing and croaking, but that was all. In a few minutes even this ended. They turned their backs to each other. Then Longlegs lifted his great wings and with his long legs trailing behind him and his long neck folded back on his shoulders flew off up the Big river. The big white Heron left behind settled himself to watch and wait for that Frog to come out of the mud.

Peter kept still as long as he could. Finally he ventured to hop out from hiding. "If you please," said he, trying to be polite, "do you mind telling me where you are from?" Peter has found out that being polite usually pays.

The big white bird looked down at Peter. "Did yo' see me send that meddling cousin of mine off about his business?" he asked.

Peter nodded but didn't answer the question. Instead he admired Egret's white coat. Finally he ventured to say "I didn't understand just where you said you came from."

Cousin Egret's eyes twinkled. "Ah didn't say, but if yo' really must know Ah flew over here from the other side of the water," said he.

"Of course. I saw you. That isn't what I meant. Where did you come from before that? Where do you like when you are at home?" replied Peter. Then he added, "When you speak you sound like Unc' Billy Possum and Ol' Mistah Buzzard."

Cousin Egret chuckled. He looked pleased. "Yo' don' say!" said he. "Well, why not! Brer Buzzard don' really belong up here. He does have sense enough to come back home in cold weather. And Brer Possum is from an ol' southern family."

"Then you are from the Sunny South!" cried Peter.

"Ah wonder how yo' guessed that," chuckled Cousin Egret.

"Did you come from very far down in the Sunny South?" asked Peter.

"An reckon yo' would call it a right smart distance. An sho' reckon yo' would," replied Cousin Egret.

"Didn't you make a mistake coming up here now? It is the wrong time of year," said Peter.

"Who says so? Why do yo' say that?" asked the big Heron. He looked a bit puzzled.

"Because most other feathered folks I know come in the spring and at this time of year are getting ready to go back to the Sunny South or have already started. A few stay all the year, but the rest go south just when you come north," explained Peter.

Cousin Egret chuckled again. "They are just vacationing. That is what Ah'm doing," said he.

The next story. "Cousin Egret Explains."
